
Only about 7.2% detection is needed to make this attack unprofitable, well below the 11.8% at which voters would refuse outright, and far below the 55% the protected configuration actually achieves.